CHIEFS AGREE ON FUNCTIONS OF AIR FORCE

Top Military Officials Announce Decision in General Terms at Meetings at R. I.

CLEARS UP SQUABBLE

Washington, Aug. 23.—(P)—American military chiefs laid down the edict today that Army, Navy and Air Force must each call on its own for the others when that will promote "effectiveness and economy" of operations.

This pronouncement came in a statement from Secretary of Defense Forrestal on what was accomplished at weekend meetings of top military officials at Newport, R. I.

Forrestal also said:

1. There was discussion of "broad strategic matters of particular interest in the current international situation."

2. "Current scientific developments were surveyed in an effort to insure that the armed services in both operational and logistical fields will keep abreast of the latest capabilities of various types of weapons and their appropriate employment."

Washington, Aug. 23.—(P)—The nation's top military officials announced today an agreement in general terms was reached in weekend meetings at Newport, R. I., on duties of the Army, Navy and Air Force in peace and war.

A statement issued by Secretary of Defense Forrestal's office said this agreement embraces a previous one that the Air Force's main job is strategic air warfare but emphasized "this does not preclude participation of other services."

There has been a squabble between the Navy and the Air Force over air duties of each ever since the Air Force was created as a separate department on equal footing with the Army and Navy. Forrestal called the joint chiefs of staff, which includes the top Air Force, Navy and Army officers to Key West, Fla., some months ago to iron out arguments over functions.

Today's announcement said that the Key West agreement has been "subject to different interpretations since its promulgation."

The Newport meeting was to settle those different interpretations. The Air Force, for instance, has loudly criticized the Navy's proposed construction of a super-carrier on the grounds that it infringes on Air Force long-range bombing functions. The Navy has denied the purpose of the carrier is to do long-range bombing.

While these top-secret meetings were in progress, however, the Air Force let it be known that one of the things it would like to have most of all is a guided missile capable of carrying an atom-bomb faster than the speed of sound.

Such a weapon was labeled a must in the final report of Gen. Spaatz, who turned over his job as Chief of Staff of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg several weeks ago.

Spaatz said that since there is no existing defense against a weapon (Turn to Page Seven)

SOCIALITE HEIRESS WILL BECOME A NUN

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(P)—Constance Murray, whose grandfather left his family $50,000,000, will go into a Roman Catholic convent next month.

The 19-year-old, pretty blonde debutante's decision to become a nun was revealed by her widowed mother, Mrs. John F. Murray, last night after a day-long visit by plane from a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Murray said her daughter will enter the convent of the Holy Child at Sharon Hill, Pa., Sept. 15—three days after she acts as a bridesmaid at her sister Catherine's wedding here.

One of her four sisters is married to Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, one of the Williamsburg, the newsmen had closed a deal for the Wanderer for the duration of the cruise.

The Williamsburg is due to anchor tonight at Harbor of Refuge, in Delaware bay, near Lewis, Delaware, after a day-long voyage from the Naval Academy.

Mr. Truman is due to put out to sea briefly tomorrow, if the weather permits. He is to be joined tonight by the Destroyer J. B. Kennedy, which will replace the escorting river boat, Lenore, for the sea phase of the cruise.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the president and his staff already have devoted considerable discussion to Mr. Truman's Detroit speech and four other Michigan Labor Day addresses which will formally open Mr. Truman's election campaign.

The president's plans to talk from notes, rather than a prepared

World Council Of Churches Is Launched In Amsterdam

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Aug. 23.—(P)—The World Council of Churches opened its first business session today on a note of regret at the absence of any official representatives from communions of the Roman Catholic, the Russian Orthodox, the Southern (United States) Baptist, and the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran church.

The absence of these communions was explained by Dr. W. A. Visser 'T Hooft, general secretary of the World Council. Invitations had stated that if official participation were not desired, unofficial observers would be welcomed from the communions.

The Russian church's decision to decline was made at a conference of the Eastern Orthodox Church in Moscow in July. Dr. 'T Hooft explained. It was said at the conference that unofficial observers affiliated with the Russian church outside of the Soviet Union, were present.

After 10 years as a provisional body, the council took on its new status when the Archbishop of Canterbury, chairman of the first business session, called some 450 official delegates from 40 countries for the first order of business in Amsterdam's Concertgebouw.

Greek Guerrillas Routed Near Vitsi

Athens, Aug. 23.—(P)—The Greek army, turning north and east from the Grammas mountains, today routed guerrillas who were moving toward the Vitsi area with the apparent aim of finding a new home for Communist "Free Greece."

A communique said the rebels entered Greece from Albania directly west of Kastoria. Government troops blunted their advance and sent them scurrying toward the southeast. A spokesman said this stopped their march toward Vitsi.

The Vitsi area consists of some 20 to 25 square miles. It is directly north of Lake Kastoria in the triangle formed by the juncture of the Greek, Albanian and Yugoslav border at Lake Prespa. Kastoria is about 13 miles northeast of Neosotirion, northeastern anchor of the old Grammas front.

The Vitsi area would offer the guerrillas supply lines into Albania and Yugoslavia, but the terrain is not nearly so rugged as the Grammas mountains and thus offers fewer natural defenses.

Pension Checks Going Out Soon To Soft Coal Miners

Washington, Aug. 23.—(P)—Those $100 a month pension checks are coming soon to eligible soft coal miners. Machinery is being put in order with a view to mailing out the first checks in September.

Officials of the United Mine Workers welfare fund disclosed over the weekend that pension applications have been sent to all local unions.

These are the major requirements for a pension:

A bituminous coal miner must be at least 62 years old.

He must have had 20 years' service in the industry.

He must be a member of the United Mine Workers.

He must have retired after May 23, 1946.

There has been no estimate of how many aged and retired soft coal miners might apply for pensions.

Said the UMW newsbureau in a statement concerning the beginning of pensions:

"Thus, after more than two years of battling across the negotiating table and through the courts, the dream of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is about to become a reality."

The welfare fund totals more than $50,000,000. Death and disability payments already are being paid from it. Funds come from the mine operators who pay a royalty on coal produced. It now is 20 cents a ton. Until July 1 it was 10 cents.

Pensions also will be paid to anthracite miners, but from a different fund. Those payments will begin later.

MUTILATION OF TWO JEWS IS PROTESTED

Israel Minister Charges Soldiers Killed While Prisoners of Arabs In Red Cross Zone

ARE FOUND BEHEADED

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 23.—(P)—The Jews asserted today two wounded Israeli soldiers were "killed and their bodies mutilated" while prisoners of Arabs in Jerusalem's international Red Cross zone.

A third Israeli prisoner, the Jews declared, "died or was killed." Moshe Shertok, Israeli foreign minister, protested the incidents to Count Folke Bernadotte, Shertok addressed his protest to Bernadotte as president of the 17th International Red Cross convention, and not as United Nations mediator for Palestine.

During a six-hour cease fire Aug. 20, Shertok said, the bodies of two Jewish soldiers were "killed and mutilated" while under protection of the International Red Cross, on the outskirts of Jerusalem.

Government House, former residence of the British high commissioner, now is in a Red Cross zone.

"Bodies removed from government house were found beheaded," Shertok declared. "They were photographed in that condition by the International Red Cross."

"These two men were brought into Government House while wounded, one of them not seriously, by a party of Israeli soldiers who sought shelter in Government House, and were subsequently delivered from it to the Arab commander as prisoners-of-war."

"They were thus killed and their bodies mutilated while under protection of the International Red Cross."

"A third man from that group who died or was killed while in Government House was, for reasons yet unexplained, buried in the grounds of Government House by the International Red Cross."

Shertok said the cease fire was arranged through United Nations truce observers.

"It was agreed that, during this interval, Israeli authorities would restore 34 civilians removed from the Arab College to be accommodated in Government House while at the time they should send mediation personnel to remove bodies of Jews killed in that area," Shertok added.

"When, after removing the bodies from Government House itself, the medical orderlies proceeded to the removal of bodies from the area around it, fire was opened against them by Arabs from both sides, forcing the orderlies to retreat and leave the dead."

Count Bernadotte will offer peace proposals for Palestine to the United Nations general assembly next month.

The proposals, he said yesterday, will be included in his report on his activities as mediator between Arabs and Jews in the Holy Land.

It is understood that his proposals may include alternate plans and allow for compromises. The assembly will convene in Paris Sept. 21.

Bernadotte said he will visit Arab and Israeli leaders to discuss his peace proposals. It was indicated, however, that no written plans will be submitted to either side before he offers his proposals to the general assembly.

The Israeli government, meanwhile, made a new bid for peace talks with the Arabs. An Israeli foreign office spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israel is prepared to undertake "separate peace talks with each of the Arab countries."

After Mrs. Ruth's death, one-tenth of the residue of the estate will go to "the Babe Ruth Foundation, Inc., a corporation organized under the membership corporations law of the state of New York and dedicated to the interests of the kids of America."

The accident occurred 10 miles west of the superhighway's Carlsle interchange. Twelve bus passengers, the truck driver, and bus driver were taken to Carlsle hospital.

State police said one of the casualties was in serious condition. He was Jack Liggett, 29, the bus driver, from Washington county. His injuries were described as a crushed leg, lacerations and possible internal injuries.

Genevieve Blatt of Pittsburgh, was re-elected president and Donald W. Schlegel of Bucks county, was named first vice president.

Guardsmen Parade Postwar Might In Colorful Review Before Commander-In-Chief

Indianapolis, Aug. 23.—(P)—The commonwealth's own fighting machine—the Pennsylvania National Guard—paraded its postwar might in a spectacular Governor's Day review here yesterday.

Clad in full battle dress and carrying rifles with fixed bayonets, some 12,000 sun-tanned guardsmen passed in review before their commander-in-chief, Gov. James H. Duff.

The parade—a highlight of the annual two-week summer guard encampment now underway here—marked the largest display of the state's fighting power since the ending of World War Two.

A throng estimated at 15,000, including a host of state and national officials, watched the commonwealth's part-time soldiers display their marching prowess on sprawling Muir Field training ground for thousands of World War Two rookies.

Taking part in the parade were the 10,000 troops of the 28th Infantry Division, and some 2,000 troops of the Tenth Corps Artillery.

A feature of the review was the awarding of the presidential citation to the 108th Field Artillery Battalion, of Wilkes-Barre.

Lt. Col. Frank Townsend, of Wilkes-Barre, present commander of the battalion, accepted the citation in behalf of his troops from Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, 28th Division commander, and commander of the guard's summer encampment.

In another ceremony, Governor Duff awarded the Pennsylvania Distinguished Service Medal—the commonwealth's highest military honor—to Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, commanding officer of the Second Army, and Brig. Gen. Leo T. McMahon, U. S. Army, retired, a former senior army instructor of the PNG.

Both men were cited for their "zealous interest" and invaluable assistance in re-organization of the PNG after World War Two.

The truce marching units of the guard and various units of the PNG were given the honor of the day by Governor Duff and other high officials as they passed in review.

But the guardsmen were given little time today to rest on their laurels. A banner schedule of both field and classroom exercises were lined up for the final week of the summer training program.

With all units of the 28th Division having completed their 2½ day, and various units of the PNG having completed their 2½ day, the guardsmen were given a brief respite today to rest on their laurels. WHILE TENSION EASES LITTLE IN CROSS-ZONE DELIVERIES SOVIETS MAKE NEW ARREST

Berlin, Aug. 23.—(P)—The Russians released today three U.S. military government officials they had seized in blockaded Berlin and in southern Germany.

The British in turn set free Franz Erdmann, head of the criminal division of the Russian-controlled eastern Berlin police. He was arrested at a boxing match Sunday and accused of abduction of western Berlin police and "presumption of authority" charges that still will stand. While tension was eased a little by the cross-zone deliveries, Russian soldiers crossed into the American sector of Berlin and arrested a German photographer. He was the tenth German seized since Thursday by the Russians and their German police either in the western parts of Berlin or along the border.

The Americans released today were:

Thomas P. Headen, deputy head of the American military government Information Services Division in Berlin. He was abducted yesterday in Potsdamer Platz, where the Russian, American and British zones meet. It was not clear whether he had stepped across the vague boundary.

Lt. Sherman Turner of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Roland Myers of Brooklyn, American military government officers who were seized 18 days ago while on a border inspection. They had crossed into the Russian zone at Mellrichstadt, 75 miles from Frankfurt, apparently by mistake. The Russians tried without success to force Turner and Myers to sign a receipt saying they entered the Russian zone of Germany "without authority" and took illegal pictures of the border.

Headen was held 21 hours. American officials who questioned him said the Russians did not mishandle him.

Headquarters of the western sector German police announced Russian soldiers invaded the American sector of Berlin again to seize a German photographer.

This was at least the fourth reported violation of the western sector police jurisdiction in the central Berlin since the state of civil war between rival east and west police forces began last Thursday with a riot in the no-man's land of Potsdamer Platz.

Headen, 45-year-old deputy chief of the American military government's Information Services Division, was arrested by Russian soldiers, armed with tommyguns in Potsdamer Platz yesterday. He was turned over to the U. S. liaison officers today.

Western police headquarters announced that Franz Erdmann, head of the criminal division of the Soviet-controlled police, was released after his arrest yesterday by British sector police while he was watching a boxing match in the Olympic Stadium.

The statement said charges of abduction and presumption of authority against Erdmann, lodged in connection with the arrest of about 20 western zone policemen by eastern forces since the split, still stand.

Erdmann has been the jaller of the arrested policemen. Like his chief, Paul Markgraf, who was dismissed by the anti-Communist city administration but still claims to be chief for all Berlin, Erdmann still claims to head Berlin's entire criminal police force.

The latest invasion of the American sector by Russian soldiers occurred the forenoon just off the Potsdamer Platz, an area which is being heavily patrolled by Russian, British and American military police.

The photographer "was standing on the American side of the Kottbus street (which runs into Potsdamerplatz) when a Russian officer, accompanied by a Russian soldier, approached him and wanted to take his camera away," Stumm's headquarters said.

"The photographer fled into a ruin of the American sector and was trapped there," the German statement continued.

"Two western sector police, who wanted to assist him, were beaten off by blows from the rifle butt of ten Russian soldiers who had hurried to the scene in the meantime."

"The photographer was then dragged off into the Russian sector."

American officials said they still have no word from the Russians on the promised release of two other Americans arrested August 8 at Potsdamer Platz.

Sharlsville, Aug. 23.—(P)—A young mother attempting to enter her home through a cellar window after forgetting her key was strangled to death when her neck was caught between the window sill and frame, deputy Coroner Peter Ricker reported.

State Police Corp. Irvin L. Rothel said Mrs. Gladys Marie Strickler, 22, apparently was crawling into the cellar when the window dropped on the back of her neck, pinning her against the sill.

Dr. John Baer said the young woman apparently hung by the neck for 45 minutes until her body was found by Alant Hartman who was attracted to the scene by the cries of Mrs. Strickler's six-month-old child.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 23.—(P)—The Allegheny county coroner's office reported a former Tarentum steel worker was found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning yesterday in his auto, parked in Rambler's Heights, Nakona.

The victim was identified as Robert H. McKinney, 36. Coroner William McClelland said a note was found stating that McKinney had been dependent over ill health and inability to get his old job back at the Tarentum mill. He had returned here recently after moving to Alabama.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—(P)—Six medical experts have decided that malnourished Pamela Frances Lamphare has a nine-to-one chance of surviving the prescribed corrective surgery over which her young parents became estranged.

The physicians examined the 22-month-old baby yesterday at the request of Superior Judge Walter R. O'Malley and said that the first of a series of operations should be performed within the next two months.

The child was born with her bladder outside her body.

Judge O'Malley appointed the six specialists to make the examination and recommendations to the court after child's father, Fred Lamphare, 23, asked the court to order the operation.

The mother, Irene, 21, had first refused to permit the operation. Since the court hearing, however, she has changed her mind. She said she has heard recently of several other similar cases in which surgery was successful.

In her divorce suit, still pending, the woman charged Lamphare, a shipping clerk, with "ruining" her by refusing to have the operation. She said physicians previously had told her the child had only a 1,000-to-1 chance of surviving the operation, a chance she had believed the baby could not live beyond her fifth birthday in her present condition, she said she preferred having Pamela that long rather than to risk an earlier death.

World Council Of Churches Is Launched In Amsterdam

Amsterdam, The Netherlands, Aug. 23—(P)—The World Council of Churches opened its first business session today on a note of regret at the absence of any official representatives from communions of the Roman Catholic, the Russian Orthodox, the Southern (United States) Baptist, and the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran church.

After 10 years as a provisional body, the council took on its new status when the Archbishop of Canterbury, chairman of the first business session, called some 450 official delegates from 40 countries for the first order of business in Amsterdam's Concertgebouw.

Nowhere else could the birth of the World Council have had a more appropriate setting than in Holland, a land of tolerance and spiritual freedom where the persecuted and oppressed of all countries have found sanctuary.

Now, for the first time, official representatives of 145 churches are creating "a permanent instrument of fellowship and cooperation on a worldwide scale," said the Rev. Dr. Samuel McCrea Cavert, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, a speaker at this morning's sessions.

The delegates will be divided into committees to prepare recommendations for discussion and action by the assembly. One committee will take up the Council's constitutional issues. A second will deal with matters of policy affecting the Council. A third will be concerned with a program and administration of the Council. The assembly will continue through Sept. 4.

The World Council had its inception at Conferences at Oxford and Edinburgh in 1936, when a committee of fourteen was entrusted with the task of planning the council, submitting the plan to the churches and steering it to fruition. A subsequent conference, at Utrecht in 1938, made the committee's recommendations.

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 23—(P)—The Jews asserted today two wounded Israeli soldiers were "killed and their bodies mutilated" while prisoners of Arabs in Jerusalem's international Red Cross zone.

A third Israeli prisoner, the Jews declared, "died or was killed." Moshe Shertok, Israeli foreign minister, protested the incidents to Count Folke Bernadotte. Shertok addressed his protest to Bernadotte as president of the 17th International Red Cross convention, and not as United Nations mediator for Palestine.

During a six-hour cease fire Aug. 20, Shertok said, the bodies of two Jewish soldiers were removed from Government House, on the outskirts of Jerusalem. Government House, former residence of the British high commissioner, now is in a Red Cross zone.

"Bodies removed from government house were found beheaded," Shertok declared. "They were photographed in that condition by the International Red Cross."

"These two men were brought into Government House while wounded, one of them not seriously, by a party of Israeli soldiers who sought shelter in Government House, and were subsequently delivered from it to the Arab commander as prisoners-of-war."

"They were thus killed and their bodies mutilated while under protection of the International Red Cross."

"A third man from that group who died or was killed while in Government House was, for reasons yet unexplained, buried in the grounds of Government House by the International Red Cross."

Shertok said the cease fire was arranged through United Nations truce observers.

"It was agreed that, during this interval, Israeli authorities would restore 36 civilians removed from the Arab College to be accommodated in Government House while at the time they should send six mediation personnel to remove bodies of Jews killed in that area," Shertok added.

"When, after removing the bodies from Government House itself, the medical orderlies proceeded to the removal of bodies from the area around it, fire was opened against them by Arabs from both sides, forcing the orderlies to retreat and leave the dead."

Count Bernadotte will offer peace proposals for Palestine to the United Nations general assembly next month.

The proposals, he said yesterday, will be included in his report on his activities as mediator between Arabs and Jews in the Holy Land.

It is understood that his proposals may include alternate plans and allow for compromises. The assembly will convene in Paris Sept. 21.

Bernadotte said he will visit Arab and Israeli leaders to discuss his peace proposals. It was indicated, however, that no written plans will be submitted to either side before he offers his proposals to the general assembly.

The Israeli government, meanwhile, made a new bid for peace talks with the Arabs. An Israeli foreign office spokesman in Tel Aviv said Israel is prepared to undertake "separate peace talks with each of the Arab countries."

Guardsmen Parade Postwar Might In Colorful Review Before Commander-In-Chief

Indiantown Gap, Aug. 23—(P)—The commonwealth's own fighting machine—the Pennsylvania National Guard—paraded its postwar might in a spectacular Governor's Day review here yesterday.

Clad in full battle dress and carrying rifles with fixed bayonets, some 12,000 sun-tanned guardsmen passed in review before their commander-in-chief, Gov. James H. Duff.

The parade—a highlight of the annual two-week summer guard encampment now underway here—marked the largest display of the state's fighting power since the ending of World War Two.

A throng estimated at 15,000, including a host of state and national officials, watched the commonwealth's part-time soldiers display their marching prowess on sprawling Muir Field, training ground for thousands of World War Two rookies.

Taking part in the parade were the 10,000 troops of the 28th Infantry Division, and some 2,000 troops of the Tenth Corps Artillery.

A feature of the review was the awarding of the presidential citation to the 109th Field Artillery Battalion, of Wilkes-Barre.

Lt. Col. Frank Townsend, of Wilkes-Barre, present commander of the battalion, accepted the citation in behalf of his troops from Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, 28th Division commander, and commander of the guard's summer encampment.

In another ceremony, Governor Duff awarded the Pennsylvania Distinguished Service Medal—the commonwealth's highest military honor—to Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, commanding officer of the Second Army, and Brig. Gen. Leo T. McMahon, U. S. Army, retired, a former senior army instructor of the PNG.

Both men were cited for their "zealous interest" and invaluable assistance in re-organization of the PNG after World War Two.

The trum marching units of the guard won hearty praise from Governor Duff and other high officials as they passed in review.

But the guardsmen were given little time today to rest on their laurels. A banner schedule of both field and classroom exercises were lined up for the final week of the summer training program.

With all units of the 28th Division having completed their 2½ march and bayonet, emphasis was laid down on technical training and field maneuvers.

The National Labor Relations Board has ordered the election as required by the Taft-Hartley act, but union spokesmen said the men had voted not to ballot on the war effort.

In announcing the boycott, union spokesmen said a September 2 maritime strike is certain.

Part of Ruth Estate To Aid Nation's Kids

New York, Aug. 23—(P)—Babe Ruth set aside part of his estate to be used for "the interests of the kids of America," his will showed today.

The will provided for the home run king's widow and daughters and left 10 per cent of the remainder for "the kids."

It was filed in surrogate's court for probate today.

Ruth's attorney, Melvyn G. Lowenstein, declined to estimate the total value of the estate.

The will was dated Aug. 9, a week before the baseball idol's death, as he was losing his battle with cancer in Memorial Hospital.

In it provided for his wife, Mrs. Clara Mae Ruth, and his two adopted daughters, Mrs. Ruth Flanders, North Conway, N. H., and Mrs. Dorothy Ruth Sullivan, New York City.

WHILE TENSION EASES LITTLE IN CROSS-ZONE DELIVERIES SOVIETS MAKE NEW ARREST

Berlin, Aug. 23—(P)—The Russians released today three U. S. military government officials they had seized in blockaded Berlin and in southern Germany.

The British in turn set free Franz Erdmann, head of the criminal division of the Russian-controlled eastern Berlin police. He was arrested at a boxing match Sunday and accused of abduction of western Berlin police and "presumption of authority," charges that still will stand.

While tension was eased a little by the cross-zone deliveries, Russian soldiers crossed into the American sector of Berlin and arrested a German photographer. He was the tenth German seized since Thursday by the Russians and their German police either in the western parts of Berlin or along the border.

The Americans released today were:

Thomas P. Headen, deputy head of the American military government Information Services Division in Berlin. He was abducted yesterday in Potsdam Platz, where the Russian, American and British zones meet. It was not clear whether he had stepped across the vague boundary.

Lt. Sherman Turner of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Roland Myers of Brooklyn, American military government officers who were seized 18 days ago while on a border inspection. They had crossed into the Russian zone at Mellrichstadt, 75 miles from Frankfurt, apparently by mistake. The Russians tried without success to force Turner and Myers to sign a receipt saying they entered the Russian zone of Germany "without authority" and took illegal pictures of the border.

Headen was held 21 hours. American officials who questioned him said the Russians did not mishandle him.

Headquarters of the western sector German police announced Russian soldiers invaded the American sector of Berlin again to seize a German photographer.

This was at least the fourth reported violation of the western sector police jurisdiction in central Berlin since the state of civil war between rival east and west police forces began last Thursday with a riot in the no-man's land of Potsdam Platz.

Headen, 45-year-old deputy chief of the American military government's Information Services Division, was arrested by Russian soldiers armed with tommyguns in Potsdam Platz yesterday. He was turned over to the U. S. liaison officers today.

Western police headquarters announced that Franz Erdmann, head of the criminal division of the Soviet-controlled police, was released after his arrest yesterday by British sector police while he was watching a boxing match in the Olympic Stadium.

The statement said charges of abduction and "presumption of authority" against Erdmann, lodged in connection with the arrest of about 20 western zone policemen by eastern forces since the split, still stand.

Erdmann has been the jailer of the arrested policemen. Like his chief, Paul Markgraf, who was dismissed by the anti-Communist city administration but still claims to be chief for all Berlin, Erdmann still claims to head Berlin's entire criminal police force.

The latest invasion of the American sector by Russian soldiers occurred this forenoon just off the Potsdam Platz, an area which is being heavily patrolled by Russian, British and American military police.

The photographer "was standing on the American side of the Kottbuser street (which runs into Potsdam Platz) when a Russian officer, accompanied by a Russian soldier, approached him and wanted to take his camera away," Stumm's headquarters said.

"The photographer fled into a ruin of the American sector and was trapped there," the German statement continued.

Two western sector police, who wanted to assist him, were beaten off by blows from the rifle butts of ten Russian soldiers who had hurried to the scene in the meantime.

"The photographer was then dragged off into the Russian sector," American officials said they still have no word from the Russians on the promised release of two other Americans arrested August 5 at Potsdam.

Chicago, Aug. 23—(P)—Six medical experts have decided that malnourished Pamela Frances Lamphere has a nine-to-one chance of surviving the prescribed corrective surgery over which her young parents became estranged.

The physicians examined the 22-month-old baby yesterday at the request of Superior Judge Walter R. O'Malley and said that the first of a series of operations should be performed within the next two months.

The child was born with her bladder outside her body.

Judge O'Malley appointed the six specialists to make the examination and recommendations to the court after child's father, Fred Lamphere, 23, asked the court to order the operation.

The mother, Irene, 21, had first refused to permit the operation. Since the court hearing, however, she has changed her mind. She said she has heard recently of several other similar cases in which surgery was successful.

In her divorce suit, still pending, the woman charged Lamphere, a shipping clerk, with cruelty for insisting upon the operation. She said physician previously had told her the child had only a 1,000-to-1 chance of surviving the operation.

Although she had believed the baby could not live beyond her fifth birthday in her present condition, she said she preferred naming Pamela that long rather than to risk an earlier death.

CHIEFS AGREE ON FUNCTIONS OF AIR FORCE

CLEAR UP SQUABBLE

Washington, Aug. 23—(P)—American military chiefs laid down the edict today that Army, Navy and Air Force must each call on aid from the others when that will promote "effectiveness and economy" of operations.

This pronouncement came in a statement from Secretary of Defense Forrestal on what was accomplished at weekend meetings of top military officials at Newport, R. I.

Forrestal also said:

1. There was discussion of "broad strategic matters of particular interest in the current international situation."

2. "Current scientific developments were surveyed in an effort to insure that the armed services in both operational and logistical fields will keep abreast of the latest capabilities of various types of weapons and their appropriate employment."

Washington, Aug. 23—(P)—The nation's top military officials announced today an agreement in general terms was reached in weekend meetings at Newport, R. I., on duties of the Army, Navy and Air Force in peace and war.

A statement issued by Secretary of Defense Forrestal's office said this agreement embraces a previous one that the Air Force's main job is strategic air warfare but emphasized "this does not preclude participation of other services."

There has been a squabble between the Navy and the Air Force over air duties of each ever since the Air Force was created as a separate department on equal footing with the Army and Navy.

Forrestal called the joint chiefs of staff, which includes the top Air Force, Navy and Army officers to Key West, Fla., some months ago to iron out arguments over functions.

Today's announcement said that the Key West agreement has been "subject to different interpretations" since its preparation.

The meeting was to settle those different interpretations.

The Air Force, for instance, has loudly criticized the Navy's proposed construction of a super-carrier on the grounds that it infringes on Air Force long-range bombing functions. The Navy has denied the purpose of the carrier is to do long-range bombing.

While these top-level meetings were in progress, however, the Air Force let it be known that one of the things it would like to have most of all is a guided missile capable of carrying an atom-bomb faster than the speed of sound.

Such a weapon was labeled a must in the final report of Gen. Spaatz, who turned over his job as Air Force chief of staff to Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg several weeks ago.

Spaatz said that since there is no existing defense against a weapon (Turn to Page Seven)

SOCIALITE HEIRESS WILL BECOME A NUN

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 23—(P)—Constance Murray whose grandfather left his family $500,000, will go into a Roman Catholic convent next month.

The 19-year-old, pretty blonde debutante's decision to become a nun was revealed by her widowed mother, Mrs. John F. Murray, last night after the girl returned by plane from a tour of Europe.

Mrs. Murray said her daughter will enter the convent of the Holy Child at Sharon Hill, Pa., Sept. 15—three days after she acts as a bridesmaid at her sister Catherine's wedding here.

One of her four sisters is married to Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, one of the nation's wealthiest.

Newsman Charter Yacht To Follow President Up The Bay

Aboard Yacht Wanderer, Aug. 23—(P)—A dozen members of the Washington press corps fell in behind the presidential Yacht Williamsburg today.

The newsmen chartered and boarded the yacht Wanderer at Annapolis, Md., and followed in its wake as President Truman pushed northeastward up Chesapeake Bay on his pre-campaign vacation cruise.

Unable to obtain transportation through the navy when the president left Washington Friday afternoon, the newspapermen motored to Solomons, Md., Saturday. There they saw the Williamsburg anchored about a mile off shore.

From Solomons, they drove to Annapolis Sunday in time to greet the presidential party when members stepped ashore at Plover landing to attend services at the Naval Academy chapel.

By the time Mr. Truman had re-

Pension Checks Going Out Soon To Soft Coal Miners

Washington, Aug. 23—(P)—Those $100 a month pension checks are coming soon to eligible soft coal miners.

Machinery is being put in order with a view to mailing out the first checks in September.

Officials of the United Mine Workers welfare fund disclosed over the weekend that pension applications have been sent to all local unions.

These are the major requirements for a pension:

A bituminous coal miner must be at least 62 years old.

He must have had 20 years' service in the industry.

He must be a member of the United Mine Workers.

He must have retired after May 28, 1946.

There has been no estimate of how many aged and retired soft coal miners might apply for pensions.

Said the UMW newsbureau in a statement concerning the beginning of pensions:

"Thus, after more than two years of battling across the negotiating table and through the courts, the dream of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, is about to become a reality."

County Boys' Body
Is Enroute Home

The Times-Mirror has been advised by the War Department over the week-end that the body of Sgt. Stanley A. Davis, son of Archie G. Davis, of Youngsville, is being returned to this country aboard the Army Transport Lawrence Victory.

Sgt. Davis, who was killed in action in France on November 29, 1944, is one of more than 5,800 bodies being brought home from temporary military cemeteries in that country.

Another Near Drowning At Chautauqua

Jamestown, Aug. 22—Heroic action on the part of a 19-year-old Conewango village youth saved a 46-year-old father from drowning after their fishing boat had capsized in the choppy waters of Lake Chautauqua near Jamestown Friday night.

Raymond Ray, the father, is in Jamestown General Hospital where he was rushed after his son Harold held him in his arms in rough water for 15 minutes while two other companions shouted for help.

The accident occurred when the two, with Raymond's brother, George, 46, of Jamestown, and a friend, Osterman Barber, of Marietta, Venezuela, were cruising in an outboard motor boat near Sukot, two miles west of Lake-wood, N. Y.

While Raymond was standing in the boat putting on a jacket, a large wave struck the bow of the vessel, turned it sideways and capsized it. All four of the men were thrown into the water and the boat drifted away.

All of the men, with the exception of the elder Ray, were excellent swimmers. The father went under shortly after the boat capsized and while Barber and George Ray remained afloat in the choppy water, Harold went after his father and held him above the surface while help was being called.

When J. W. Keefe on the beach heard the calls for help he rushed to the scene in a boat and took the four aboard.

Another Near Drowning At Chautauqua

Jamestown, Aug. 22—Heroic action on the part of a 19-year-old Conewango village youth saved his 40-year old father from drowning after their fishing boat had capsized in the choppy waters of Lake Chautauqua near Jamestown Friday night.

Raymond Ray, the father, is in Jamestown General Hospital where he was rushed after his son Harold held him in his arms in rough water for 15 minutes while two other companions shouted for help.

The accident occurred when the two, with Raymond's brother, George, 46, of Jamestown, and a friend, Osterman Barber, of Marietta, Venezuela, were cruising in an outboard motor boat near Budo, two miles west of Lake-wood, N. Y.

While Raymond was standing in the boat putting on a jacket a large wave struck the bow of the vessel, turned it sideways and capsized it. All four of the men were thrown into the water and the boat drifted away.

All of the men, with the exception of the elder Ray, were excellent swimmers. The father went under shortly after the boat capsized and while Barber and George Ray remained afloat in the choppy water, Harold went after his father and held him above the surface while help was being called.

When J. W. Keefe on the beach heard the calls for help he rushed to the scene in a boat and took the four aboard.

MASS DIAGNOSIS LIKE MASS HYSTERIA

The world's great powers are wallowing in a mass case of guilt-induced neurosis, if one is to believe the news from the International Conference on Mental Health in London, writes James Thrasher in an editorial prepared for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror.

One psychoanalyst says that the United States has "an enormous sense of guilt about dropping the atomic bomb on the Japanese" and that Britain has "a terrific amount of guilt about American generosity." Another analyst says Russia has never recovered from a guilty feeling over killing the last czar, and that Germany still suffers from remorse over starting World War I.

Even those nations that don't feel guilty apparently aren't immune to psychiatric complications. At least a Chinese psychiatrist told the conference that the influence of American civilization is making neurotics of his countrymen. Western thought seems to be making serious inroads on Chinese culture by introducing such things as social responsibility, taxi dancing, planned parenthood, cocktail parties and sanitation.

A London mental scientist advanced the ideas, which we gather are sound and accepted, that violence is always connected with guilt, and that guilt and fear and guilt and hate often stimulate each other. At least those ideas seem to be accepted as far as individuals go. But we wonder—at the risk of getting in over our head in a strange pond—whether those observations can be applied as safely to nations as to individuals.

To do that would be to assume at the beginning that individual sense of guilt which was un-every citizen of a nation was oppressed with an individual sense of guilt which was unrecognized and unresolved. It would also have to be assumed that every individual expressed his guilt neurosis in much the same way if national behavior is to be explained on the basis of mass neurosis.

It must certainly be true that a person's subconscious emotional disturbances sometimes come to the surface as Stalinesque communism or fascism or klanism or ultra-conservatism. A neurotic leader, or a psychotic one like Hitler, with a gift of gab and plenty of trigger-happy helpers, can start a movement among his like-minded countrymen. But the leaders are still the bosses. And much national behavior, whether in a dictatorship or a democracy stems from the leaders' decisions which in turn reflect the leaders' mental quirks.

That still doesn't prove the worth or wisdom of tagging a whole country with a national neurosis. Not that the whole thing matters too much, maybe. It isn't likely that many Americans, Britons, Russians or Germans are going to be too upset when a psychoanalyst tells them that they are harboring a deep-seated sense of guilt because of some of their leaders' past actions.

But are the analysts advancing the important and developing art (or science) of psychiatry by these generalities? Why is it better to say that America is a nation ridden by a guilt neurosis than it is to say that Germany is a racially superior nation, or that one color of skin is superior to the next, or that one religion is morally free to exterminate another?

There is a great work that psychoanalysts can do. But surely that work must be done with individuals. In the meantime, mass diagnosis doesn't seem to us to be much different or much better than mass hysteria.

A vote of thanks should be extended the Weatherman for fine cooperation during Warren's two big Dollar Days, Friday and Saturday. The bargain event attracted the largest crowds that have been in the city in many months.

Considering heavy traffic and the fog that has blanketed the area the past few nights, this district was indeed fortunate in not having any serious traffic accidents over the weekend.

King Ibn Saud, cut to the quick, has refused to pick up 15,000,000 American dollars earmarked as a loan to Saudi Arabia because he resents our government's support of Israel. Well, if we can't have the old sheik's whole-souled affection, those 15,000 grand will serve very effectively as heart balm.

The Keedoozle Automatic Stores are coming. An official of the Smith & Horton Company tells us they have the franchise for this section for the "Juke-box grocery store," mentioned in a Memphis, Tenn., dispatch last week, which says:

Clarence Saunders started out Thursday to create his second revolution and his third fortune in the grocery business. His weapon: A juke-box grocery store.

The man who installed self-service opened the new "Keedoozle," a store in which the customer never touches the merchandise and the clerks are electrical machines.

It's supposed to give quicker service to the customer at less cost to the operator, enabling him to reduce prices.

Saunders, 67, even lost two fortunes in operating Piggly Wiggly stores and the "Clarence Saunders, Sole-Owner-of-My-Name" chain. He operated them on the then-radical principle of self-service. He lost both chains.

He said he'll rise back to the top with this new store. He said others will be built throughout the country.

Briefly, it operates this way: The customer is handed a key when he enters. The key holds a cylindrical roll of paper. The goods are behind glass. When the customer sees something he wants, he fits the key to a nearby slot. The transaction is recorded on the paper in code.

After he finishes shopping, the paper is given to the cashier and the bill is totaled. It then is handed to another worker who runs it through a machine which brings down the groceries the customer marked.

Hon. Leon H. Gavin, congressman from the 18th district, will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the new Memorial Playground at Sheffield next Saturday. A bronze plaque with the dedication inscription will be mounted on a boulder and unveiled during the ceremony.

The program which will begin with a parade of veterans' organizations ending at the playground. A flag-raising ceremony will precede the dedication address. There will be a ball game and in the evening the famous Knox Band will present a concert on the Memorial Playground lawn. Looks like another red-letter day for the folks up Sheffield way.

This and That: Gordon Munn, while in the office taking advantage of the Dollar Day subscription rates Saturday morning wised up to the fact that wild turkeys are plentiful in Potter county, and in his estimation that area will offer the best sport for hunters for this particular bird in the state; he also told us about a new "curb finder" invented by a Californian, that may revolutionize the tire industry, because of the wear and tear it will save on automobiles backing into curbs. Down at Oil City the school district is replacing old wooden bleachers at the Mitchell avenue field with steel stands, at a cost of $27,254—they will be ready for the opening game with Titusville September 10; 216 feet in length, 10 rows deep with a seating capacity of 2,160 spectators, with a press box, which will be four feet eight inches by 26 feet, also erected. An old steam engine and pump found years ago will be set up at the Drake Well Memorial Park at Titusville, to pump crude oil, and according to reports the engine is the oldest in this territory, originally used to pump oil to the Ottopole refinery in 1870. MASS DIAGNOSIS LIKE MASS HYSTERIA

The world's great powers are wallowing in a mass case of guilt-induced neurosis, if one is to believe the news from the International Conference on Mental Health in London, writes James Thrasher in an editorial prepared for NEA Service and the Times-Mirror.

One psychoanalyst says that the United States has "an enormous sense of guilt about dropping the atomic bomb on the Japanese" and that Britain has "a terrific amount of guilt about American generosity." Another analyst says Russia has never recovered from a guilty feeling over killing the last czar, and that Germany still suffers from remorse over starting World War I.

Even those nations that don't feel guilty apparently aren't immune to psychiatric complications. At least a Chinese psychiatrist told the conference that the influence of American civilization is making neurotics of his countrymen. Western thought seems to be making serious inroads on Chinese culture by introducing such things as social responsibility, taxi dancing, planned parenthood, cocktail parties and sanitation.

A London mental scientist advanced the ideas, which we gather are sound and accepted, that violence is always connected with guilt, and that guilt and fear and guilt and hate often stimulate each other. At least those ideas seem to be accepted as far as individuals go. But we wonder—at the risk of getting in over our head in a strange pond—whether those observations can be applied as safely to nations as to individuals.

To do that would be to assume at the beginning that individual sense of guilt which was un...

every citizen of a nation was oppressed with an individual sense of guilt which was unrecognized and unresolved. It would also have to be assumed that every individual expressed his guilt neurosis in much the same way if national behavior is to be explained on the basis of mass neurosis.

It must certainly be true that a person's subconscious emotional disturbances sometimes come to the surface as Stalinist communism or fascism or klanism or ultra-conservatism. A neurotic leader, or a psychotic one like Hitler, with a gift of gab and plenty of trigger-happy helpers, can start a movement among his like-minded countrymen. But the leaders are still the bosses. And much national behavior, whether in a dictatorship or a democracy stems from the leaders' decisions which in turn reflect the leaders' mental quirks.

That still doesn't prove the worth or wisdom of tagging a whole country with a national neurosis. Not that the whole thing matters too much, maybe. It isn't likely that many Americans, Britons, Russians or Germans are going to be too upset when a psychoanalyst tells them that they are harboring a deep-seated sense of guilt because of some of their leaders' past actions.

But are the analysts advancing the important and developing art (or science) of psychiatry by these generalities? Why is it better to say that America is a nation ridden by a guilt neurosis than it is to say that Germany is a racially superior nation, or that one color of skin is superior to the next, or that one religion is morally free to exterminate another?

There is a great work that psychoanalysts can do. But surely that work must be done with individuals. In the meantime, mass diagnoses doesn't seem to us to be much different or much better than mass hysteria.

A vote of thanks should be extended the Weatherman for fine cooperation during Warren's two big Dollar Days, Friday and Saturday. The bargain event attracted the largest crowds that have been in the city in many months.

Considering heavy traffic and the fog that has blanketed the area the past few nights, this district was indeed fortunate in not having any serious traffic accidents over the weekend.

King Ibn Saud, cut to the quick, has refused to pick up 15,000,000 American dollars earmarked as a loan to Saudi Arabia because he resents our government's support of Israel. Well, if we can't have the old sheik's whole-souled affection, those 15,000 grand will serve very effectively as heart balm.

overseas pay... travel... sports...

go with an Army job in Japan!

How times have changed.

Three years ago, when our first victorious combat men left Japan, much of it was a shambles. The Japanese people were so dazed by defeat they didn't know which way to turn. The life of an Army man often had its discomforts.

But look at him today! He's helped to start the rebuilding of Japan, to restore roads and railways, to inspire a tired and hungry people with the hope of Democracy. Under his guiding hand, courts of justice, woman suffrage and freedom of worship have been brought about. In Japan there is only one soldier for every 400 Japanese—the smallest per capita occupation army in the world.

The pay of a Private is 50% higher than three years ago, then another 20% higher overseas. And almost every cent can be banked. None of it goes for food, housing, medical or dental care, clothing, retirement annuity, or the opportunity to continue his education. The Army furnishes him equipment for organized sports. While on leave, he can ski in winter or visit summer resorts at a fraction of what these activities would cost him in the United States.

An Army career in Japan is full of advantages such as these. Compare it with any job across the board—you'll find it hard to beat! Ask at your nearest Army and Air Force Recruiting Station for full details.

overseas pay... travel... sports...

go with an Army job in Japan!

How times have changed.

Three years ago, when our first victorious combat men left Japan, much of it was a shambles. The Japanese people were so dazed by defeat they didn't know which way to turn. The life of an Army man often had its discomforts.

But look at him today! He's helped to start the rebuilding of Japan, to restore roads and railways, to inspire a tired and hungry people with the hope of Democracy. Under his guiding hand, courts of justice, woman suffrage and freedom of worship have been brought about. In Japan there is only one soldier for every 400 Japanese—the smallest per capita occupation army in the world.

The pay of a Private is 50% higher than three years ago, then another 20% higher overseas. And almost every cent can be banked. None of it goes for food, housing, medical or dental care, clothing, retirement annuity, or the opportunity to continue his education. The Army furnishes him equipment for organized sports. While on leave, he can ski in winter or visit summer resorts at a fraction of what these activities would cost him in the United States.

An Army career in Japan is full of advantages such as these. Compare it with any job across the board—you'll find it hard to beat! Ask at your nearest Army and Air Force Recruiting Station for full details.

Chapter 18

AUNT MAE'S lips tightened. "Understand me, Jane, I'm not accusing you of doing any- thing out of the way. But, my dear child, you never were one to consider how things looked to other people.

Jane sighed wearily. She was tired and Aunt Mae was in one of her more difficult moods. "Well, what have I been doing that looks unseemly?" she asked.

"Well, for one thing, you spend your evenings dancing with this young fellow. Look how it was when I walked in this evening. Carl took away up in his study. You carry- ing on with this boy."

"We weren't carrying on," Jane retorted, "whatever you may mean by that. Ted was teaching me a new dance step. And if my husband doesn't object, I can't think of any reason why anyone else should."

"Sometimes," stated Aunt Mae, "it occurs to me that your hus- band is blind as a bat."

"Really?" said Jane.

"I'll tell you frankly that for a young wife to spend evening after evening dancing with a man not her husband, in a room alone with him—well, in my day it would have been considered very daring behavior indeed. A nice girl wouldn't have done it and a sensible husband would not have stood for it."

"So what?" Jane said.

"But you go even farther than that," Aunt Mae announced. "You've been seen dancing with this boy, clad in your lounging robe, a garment which should be reserved for the privacy of your own room and for your hus- band."

Faces Charge In Theft Of Two Wallets

An 18-year-old soldier was ar- rested in Bradford over the week- end in connection with the alleged theft of two wallets from a motor- ist following an accident in Route 6 east of Warren at Picnic Run Thursday morning at 2 o'clock.

The sheriff's office and State Po- lice identified the soldier as Wil- liam Edward Miller, 18, of Brock- way. The two wallets, owned by John McMahon of Elizabeth, were recovered.

The story, pieced together by au- thentics, started when McMahon gave Miller lift in his car near Youngsville where the soldier had been visiting with his sister.

McMahon, who was on a vaca- tion trip, accepted Miller's offer to help with the driving, but when the car reached the Picnic Run area, it ran off the highway and struck a culvert.

Miller allegedly disappeared fol- lowing the accident, with Mc- Mahon later reporting to police that his wallets were missing.

A check showed Miller thumb- ed a ride back to Warren, and hired a taxicab to take him to Bradford where he obtained a hotel room. Later he allegedly tried to cash a check in a diner at Brad- ford. The check, made out to Mc- Mahon, was for $45.00 and Mil- ler is believed to have mistaken the amount for $45 when he at- tempted to cash it.

Authorities said they planned to file charges of larceny from the person against Miller today. He is being held in the Warren county jail.

Russian officials said more than a week ago that the men would be released through Berlin. They are Lt. Sherman Turner of Coun- cil Bluffs, Iowa, and Royland My- ers of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Negotiations for his release be- gan immediately after his arrest yesterday. During the night, Sov- iet, officials at the Central Soviet headquarters said they had no in- formation on him because he might be held at a lower command post.

At noon Soviet officials said they had Heiden and that he could be brought to Soviet headquarters.

Heiden is deputy chief of the American military government's Information Services Division.

It was not clear whether Heiden stepped into the Russian sector when he left the curb, but bound- ary lines in the big city square are poorly defined. Some officials said they thought Heiden may have stepped into the Russian sec- tor, his wife and children looked on helplessly as the Soviet sol- diers grabbed him.

The U. S. Provost Marshal's of- fice and western sector police re- ported a quiet night at the Amer- ican-Soviet sector border follow- ing Heiden's arrest. American forces continued to patrol the bor- der to prevent renewed incursions by Russians and Soviet-controlled German police.

These developments came as the British proclaimed the "complete" failure of the Soviet blockade to disrupt the economy of the western sectors or Berlin and as the west- ern envoys negotiating with Rus- sian on the German situation await- ed a call to see Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

The British, meanwhile, an- nounced that the 12,500,000 Deutsche marks worth of goods have been exported from Berlin by British planes since the Soviet blockade of the city began two months ago. The Deutsche mark is figured unofficially at 30 cents.

Warren Vets-Glendoria Tangle Tonight In 2nd Game Of Title Series

Glendoria, Coffee and Warren, V. F. W. baseball teams will make another attempt to settle the championship of the Sunset Baseball League tonight when they clash at 6:30 o'clock on the State Hospital diamond.

Glendoria, winner of the league's second half campaign, topped the first semester champs by a 7 to 2 score a week ago, but two attempts to play the second game of the best-out-of-three series were rained out.

The coffee makers can nail down the league pennant by tripping the Vets tonight, but a triumph for the V. F. W. will send the series the full route, necessitating still another game.

The Glendoria team kept busy over the weekend by battling Pleasantville in a tight scrap which Pleasantville won by a 2-0 count. The game was played on the winner's diamond.

Ames, Pleasantville moundman, had Glendoria eating out of his hand until the sixth when Tom Juliano reached first on an error and then scored when Bill Weidert slammed a double to center. That gave the coffee makers a 1-0 edge that held until the bottom half of the ninth when Dave Lopez, Glendoria's roundsman, ran into a streak of bad luck.

Dreschner, Pleasantville third-sacker, led off in the ninth with a walk and promptly stole second. Morrison whiffed the breeze, but Sharp came through with a single that scored Dreschner with the tying run. Then with Ames at bat, Sharp attempted to steal second. The ball tipped Weidert's

Sox Win Over Senators With Indian Setback Tightens Up Hot Race In American League

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe McCarthy's rampaging Boston Red Sox owe their amazing uphill climb to their great keystone combination—Shortstop Vern Stephens and Bobby Doerr.

Sparked by the brilliant all-around play of this pair, the Red Sox today were in second place in the American League standings, only half a game behind the pace-setting Cleveland Indians.

Stephens and Doerr accounted for three of Boston's four runs yesterday as the Sox whipped the Washington Senators 4-1. It was Boston's fourth straight over the Senators and the 10th victory in their last 12 games.

It proved a profitable Sunday for the Sox as the Indians dropped a doubleheader to the cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox, 3-1 and 4-3, to lose a game and a half to Boston.

The Red Sox New York Yankees also gained ground, whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-0, to climb within two games of the Indians. The A's, now in fourth place, are three games off the pace.

Doerr was the big gun of the Red Sox victory yesterday. He hammered his 23rd home run with Stephens aboard in the third inning off Forrest Thompson to put the Sox ahead 2-0. Doerr walked in the eighth and tallied one of Boston's two runs in that inning.

The Yankees made it three in a row over the A's as Vic Raschi, an old Philadelphia nemesis, pitched a four-hit shutout for his 17th victory against five defeats. Raschi helped his own cause with a bases-loaded double and a single to drive in three runs. Charley Keller also batted in three mates as the Yankees collected 12 hits off three Philadelphia hurlers. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed by rain.

The White Sox not only whipped the Indians twice, but knocked out Bobby Feller in the sixth inning of the first game. The Chicago added insult to injury when Pat Seery, who was discarded by the Tribe, potted a two-run homer to sink the Indians in the second game.

Blasting Hal Newhouser for eight hits in less than five innings, including a home run by Gerry Priddy, the St. Louis Browns walked the Detroit Tigers, 10-1. Fred Sanford permitted only three hits for his ninth victory. It was Newhouser's ninth defeat. He has won 15.

The Boston Braves moved two games ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers, coming from behind to win, 4-3, on Rookie Clint Conster's eighth inning home run with one out. The Dodgers had forged ahead in the last of the fifth when two runs, including Jackie Robinson's fourth steal of home this season.

The Pittsburgh Pirates ruined the St. Louis Cardinals' chances of taking over second place when they talked three times in the 10th to win 4-1. The defeat left the third place Redbirds two percentage points behind the Dodgers and two games from the Cardinals.

Elmer Riddle, credited with the victory, opened the Pirate tenth with a single off Murry Dickson. Hits by Stan Rojek and Dixie Walker, a long fly by Ralph Kiner and errors by Babe Young and Elmer Slaughter accounted for the Pittsburgh runs. The victory left the fourth place Pirates five and a half games off the pace.

The New York Giants moved into a virtual fourth place tie with Pittsburgh by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies twice at the Polo Grounds, 9-4 and 3-0. The second game was called in the Giants' half of the fifth because of rain. Sheldon Jones went the distance for the Giants in the opener, allowing six hits for his 13th triumph.

Johnny Schmitz earned his 14th triumph as the Chicago Cubs trounced the Cincinnati Reds 10-3, to move within a game and a half of the seventh place Redlegs. The Cubs got 12 hits off three Red pitchers including Bill Nicholson's 16th home run. Hank Sauer banged his 28th for the Reds.

The Bambino:

Signing on the Dotted Line

BASEBALL players owe Babe Ruth an eternal debt of gratitude. He was responsible more than anyone for the present high salaries paid to the stars of the diamond.

The Bambino's annual holdout capers were the top off-season baseball stories and often his stubbornness about signing carried right up to the close of spring training.

Once he signed a contract under the stands at St. Petersburg, Fla. Though the document called for $50,000 Ruth signed without reading it.

In his 15 years with the Yankees Ruth blasted 659 regular season homers, an average of 44 a season. His home runs blazed a trail across every sports page in the country.

A Famous Hospital Case

During 1925—Ruth's one poor year in baseball though he batted 290 and hit 25 homers—he became the most celebrated hospital case of all time. He came up with influenza which limited him to less than 100 games for the only time during his peak years. But it was his recurrent "stomach aches" that really made him a famous hospital case. Practically every kid in the country was rooting for his return to action.

He came back at 32 the following year with 47 homers and a .372 batting average and followed this with his record 60 homers in 1927 and 54 in 1928.

Five weeks before the 1930 season opened he signed a two-year contract for $80,000 a year. He rented two homes in St. Petersburg, one for himself and one for Lefty Gomez, the quick-witted Yankee pitcher whose company Ruth enjoyed.

"Hey Goofy! Lookit the Fish"

Coming home from a fishing trip Ruth stood on Lefty's lawn at two o'clock in the morning and yelled at the top of his lungs:

"Hey, Gomez! Look at the big fish I caught."

Ruth was always playing pranks on his teammates. One time he substituted liniment for eyewash in a bottle belonging to Tony Lazzeri.

The shoe was on the other foot in the 1932 World Series. The Chicago Cubs irritated Ruth with taunts and rolled lemons on the field in the third game. Ruth was so furious he pointed toward the bleachers and a few seconds later drove one of Charley Root's pitches almost to the spot for a home run.

National Forge Outdistances Corry Merchants, 15-11; Beats Jamestown Steel Partitions

The management of the National Forge baseball team today announced scheduling of a game with the Ludlow Wildcats to be played at Ludlow tomorrow evening, starting at 6 o'clock.

National Forge baseballers added two triumphs to their season's record over the week end, outdistancing the Corry Merchants in a free-scoring tussle at Corry Friday night and edging Jamestown Partitions in a nip-and-tuck battle on the State Hospital field Saturday afternoon.

Corry was well on the way to annex the decision, having built up a 9 to 3 margin in the first six frames. Then the Forge nine punched out 10 runs on the scorers' adding machine in the seventh round and notched two more for good measure in the eighth inning to surge to victory.

Featuring the rally was Emmy Morrison's long three-base wallop with the sacks loaded. When the Forge tangled with Corry Saturday a week ago, it was Ananea that notched the tying run and set the stage for the Forge to clinch a 10-run victory. By coincidence, it was Ananea again that scored the tying run in Friday night's scrap.

Morrison also starred in the eighth, slamming a home run with one mate ahead of him to get credited for driving in six of the victor's 15 markers.

Diz Hines started on the hill for the Irvine crew, but gave way to Dean Whittaker in the sixth. Whittaker fanned 15 men in the remainder of the contest.

The game was hailed by team supporters as the battle for the semi-pro championship of northwestern Pennsylvania.

In the Forge's tilt with the Jamestown Steelers, Hines went the full route for the victors, fanning eleven men and walking none. Hines also started at the plate, getting three hits in three times up. Gherses poled a homer for the N. F. O.

The victors notched two runs in the second inning and added single tallies in the third and sixth. Jamestown got single tallies in the second, sixth and ninth inning, but their late rally fell short of overtaking the Irvine crew.

The Forge nine will swing into action next Saturday afternoon when they tangle with Tidoute on the State Hospital diamond.

Tenpin Loop Organization Meetings Set

Organization meetings for three of the community's numerous winter tenpin bowling leagues will be held this week to complete arrangements for the 1948-49 season.

The meetings are as follows:

Tonight: Knights of Columbus League, K. of C. hall, 7:30 p. m.

Tuesday: Industrial Tenpin League, YMCA, 8 p. m.

Thursday: Commercial Tenpin League, Times Square Service Station, 7:30 p. m. The confabs were called in by the prospective league presidents following an organizational meeting of the Warren Tenpin Bowling Association in the Elks Club Saturday night.

President Bernie Joy presided at the meeting, with Dr. James R. Smith of Erie, district executive of the American Bowling Congress sitting in on the session in an advisory capacity.

Secretary-treasurer Harry Wooster read proposals for operating the leagues this year submitted by Thad Lawson, proprietor of the Arcade alleys, and "Lefty" Clark, proprietor of the Penn Bowling Center.

The proposals, briefly were: Arcade alleys—No increase planned in cost of bowling; no refund will be made to the leagues by the alley management at the end of the season. Prizes will be awarded high scores at the end of the season. Thad also said he has received 24 sets of new pins which will enable him to install a new set of pins for league competition every five weeks. The Arcade already has opened for the season.

Penn alleys—No increase planned in cost of bowling, unless future conditions make it necessary. The alleys will open Sept. 1. Each league team is asked to guarantee the management $4.50 per league night. New sets of pins will be put into league play every five weeks.

Righthanded Jerry Kleinsmith registered his last ten strikeouts Saturday as the runner-up Falcons shut out the league pacesetter Lockport Reds 13-0. Jerry yielded three scattered hits as he turned back the Reds for his fourth straight time.

The Reds got yesterday's shut-out. They blanked the Batavia Clippers 1-0 after the Clippers won an opener 2-1.

Keith Allswede's single driving in Ray Reimour gave the Falcons a 10th inning run yesterday for a 2-1 verdict over the Bradford Blue Wings.

Joe Fromuth hit four times in four trips, including three doubles, to lead Wellsville in a 5-4 decision over the Olean Oilers yesterday before the Oilers came back to win 7-3 in a game called in the seventh because of fog.

Warren Vets-Glendor Tangle Tonight In 2nd Game Of Title Series

Glendora Coffee and Warren V. F. W. baseball nines will make another attempt to settle the championship of the Sunset Baseball League tonight when they clash at 6:30 o'clock on the State Hospital diamond.

Glendora, winner of the league's second half campaign, topped the first semester champs by a 7 to 2 score a week ago, but two attempts to play the second game of the best-out-of-three series were rained out.

The coffee makers can nail down the league pennant by tripping the Vets tonight, but a triumph for the V. F. W. will send the series the full route, necessitating still another game.

The Glendora team kept busy over the weekend by battling Pleasantville in a tight scrap which Pleasantville won by a 2-1 count. The game was played on the winner's diamond.

Ames, Pleasantville moundman, had Glendora eating out of his hand until the sixth when Tom Juliano reached first on an error and then scored when Bill Weidert slammed a double to center. That gave the coffee makers a 3-0 edge, that held until the bottom half of the ninth when Dave Lopez, Glendora's moundman, ran into a streak of bad luck.

Dreshner, Pleasantville third-sacker, led off in the ninth with a walk and promptly stole second. Morrison whiffed the breeze, but Sharp came through with a single that scored Dreshner and the tying run. Then, with Ames at bat, Sharp attempted to steal second. The ball tipped Weidert's

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Joe McCarthy's rampaging Boston Red Sox owe their amazing uphill climb to their great keystone combination — Shortstop Vern Stephens and Bobby Doerr.

Sparked by the brilliant all-around play of this pair, the Red Sox today were in second place in the American League standings, only half a game behind the pace-setting Cleveland Indians.

Stephens and Doerr accounted for three of Boston's four runs yesterday as the Sox whipped the Washington Senators 4-1. It was Boston's fourth straight over the Senators and the 10th victory in their last 12 games.

It proved a profitable Sunday for the Sox as the Indians dropped to a doubleheader to the cellar-dwelling Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and 4-3, to lose a game and a half to Boston.

The red hot New York Yankees also gained ground, whipping the Philadelphia Athletics, 10-0, to climb within two games of the Indians. The A's, now in fourth place, are three games off the pace.

Doerr was the big run of the Red Sox' victory yesterday. He hammered his 23rd home run with Stephens aboard in the third inning off Forrest Thompson to put the Sox ahead 2-0. Doerr walked in the eighth and tallied one of Boston's two runs in that inning.

The Yankees made it three in a row over the A's as Vic Raschi, an old Philadelphia nemesis, pitched a four-hit shutout for his 17th victory against five defeats. Raschi helped his own cause with a bases-loaded double and a single to drive in three runs. Charley Keller also batted in three mates as the Yankees collected 12 hits off three Philadelphia hurlers. The second game of the scheduled doubleheader was postponed by rain.

The White Sox not only whipped the Indians twice, but knocked out Bobby Feller in the sixth inning of the first game. The Chicago added insult to injury when Pat Seery, who was discarded by the Tribe, poled a two-run homer to sink the Indians in the second game.

T. Larsen And Mrs. B. Thomas Pace Tourney

Pace setters for a headpin tournament under way at the Arcade bowling alleys are Tubby Larsen in the men's division and Mrs. Bernice Thomas in the women's division.

Larsen has high four game score of 409 and is tied with Tom Musante for high single game of 109.

Mrs. Thomas has high match score of 329 among the ladies and also a high single game tally of 96.

In a headpin tourney, a bowler fires one ball, instead of two, and the headpin must be knocked over before any score can be counted. The tournament will continue throughout this week.

The Bambino:

Signing on the Dotted Line

BASEBALL players owe Babe Ruth an eternal debt of gratitude. He was responsible more than anyone for the present high salaries paid to the stars of the diamond.

The Bambino's annual holdout capers were the top off-season baseball stories and often his stubbornness about signing carried right up to the close of spring training.

One spring he signed a contract under the stands at St. Petersburg, Fla. Though the document called for $50,000 Ruth signed without reading it.

In his 15 years with the Yankees Ruth blasted 659 regular season homers, an average of 44 a season. His home runs blazed a trail across every sports page in the country.

A Famous Hospital Case

During 1925—Ruth's one poor year in baseball though he batted .290 and hit 25 homers—he became the most celebrated hospital case of all time. He came up with influenza which limited him to less than 100 games for the only time during his peak years. But it was his recurrent "stomach aches" that really made him a famous hospital case. Practically every kid in the country was rooting for his return to action.

He came back at 32 the following year with 47 homers and a .372 batting average and followed this with his record 60 homers in 1927 and 54 in 1928.

Five weeks before the 1939 season opened he signed a two-year contract for $80,000-a-year. He rented two homes in St. Petersburg, one for himself and one for Lefty Gomez, the quick-witted Yankee pitcher whose company Ruth enjoyed.

Chapter 4—Famous Home Run Gesture

National Forge Outdistances Corry Merchants, 15-11; Beats Jamestown Steel Partitions

The management of the National Forge baseball team today announced scheduling of a game with the Ludlow Wildcats to be played at Ludlow tomorrow evening, starting at 6 o'clock.

National Forge baseballers added two triumphs to their season's record over the week end, outdistancing the Corry Merchants in a free-scoring tussle at Corry Friday night and edging Jamestown Partitions in a nip-and-tuck battle on the State Hospital field Saturday afternoon.

Corry was well on the way to annex the decision having built up a 9 to 3 margin in the first six frames. Then the Forge nine punched out 10 runs on the scorer's adding machine in the seventh round and notched two more for good measure in the eighth inning to surge to victory.

Featuring the rally was Emmy Morrison's long three-base wallop with the sacks loaded. When the Forge tangled with Corry Saturday a week ago, it was Ananea that notched the tying run and set the stage for the Forge to eke out a 10-inning victory. By coincidence, it was Ananea again that scored the tying run in Friday night's scrap.

Morrison also starred in the eighth, slamming a home run which he alone of his teammates credited for driving in six of the victor's 15 markers.

Diz Hines started on the hill for the Irvine crew, but gave way to Dean Whittaker in the sixth. Whittaker fanned 13 men in the remainder of the contest.

The game was hailed by team supporters as the battle for the semi-pro championship of northwestern Pennsylvania.

In the Forge's tilt with the Jamestown Steelers, Hines went the full route for the victors, fanning eleven men and walking none. Hines also started at the plate, getting three hits in three times up. Gheres poled a homer for the N. F. O.

The victors notched two runs in the second inning and added single tallies in the third and sixth. Jamestown got single tallies in the second, sixth and ninth inning, but their late rally fell short of overtaking the Irvine crew.

The Forge nine will swing into action next Saturday afternoon when they tangle with Tidoute on the State Hospital diamond.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"I wish we hadn't gone to the Grand Canyon—all you've been talking about since we started home is that ravine back of our garage getting deeper!"

Garland—Theodore and Audrey
Smith, Miss Myrtle Norman, Wave
N. Carlson and their aunt, Mrs. A.
J. Brooks, of Akron, Ohio, spent
Thursday in Jamestown, N. Y.

The Garland school house is being cleaned preparatory to receiving the grammar school children in this vicinity for another term of school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Tresler have gone for a two weeks' vacation. Their two small daughters are staying with relatives while their parents are away.

Edward and Theodore Lofsky spent the weekend in Buffalo, N. Y.

A miscellaneous shower was held Tuesday evening in the community house, honoring Joanne Kane, who is to become the bride of Raymond Zimmer on Sept. 4th.
The bride-elect received many useful gifts for her new home along with many good wishes from Garland friends. Joanne has been a resident of Garland for more than thirteen years, coming to Garland with her parents when Mr. Kane came to all the vacancy made by the death of the late W. E. Taylor an agent for the N. Y. C. here.

Her wedding will take place in the Presbyterian church of this place, and it will be the first wedding ever held in the church which is the oldest church of any denomination in the county. Joanne, who is endowed with many graces of heart and manner, has endeared herself to young and old in the community.

Mrs. Russell Smith returned on Sunday from a visit in Massachusetts with her brother, Theo Norman and wife. Her husband and children met her in Erie.

Mrs. A. J. Brooks left Monday for her home in Akron, Ohio, following a visit in this vicinity with relatives. She is a sister of the late Mrs. N. Thompson, who passed away in June.

The Arnold Jones family have moved to Harbor Creek. Mr. Jones will work in Erie.

Clayton Buchanan, who is involved in the recent county burglaries, was a former Garland resident, living in one of the silver cabins on the Jack Selter property.

Services were held Sunday in the M. E. church with more than usual in attendance. Mrs. Chit-ester accompanied her husband for the services.

The Irwin Manufacturing Company is again running smoothly, the majority of the employees back on the job.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Andrews and the latter's sister, Miss Marie O'Leary, have returned following an extended motor trip that took them to Florida.

The Garland ball team played
Wattsburg Sunday, losing 3 to 11.
Work is now underway between Garland and Torpedo on the highway.

Mrs. Frederick Carlson of Cleveland, is visiting her husband's mother in Youngsville. Mr. Carlson, now on business for the company for whom he is employed, is in New York City, but plans to join his wife for a vacation with her mother in Youngsville.

The Grays, who were recent Garland residents, have put an attractive coat of paint on their residence in Pittsfield, where they now reside.

A heavy rainfall in the valley
Wednesday somewhat swelling the streams and holding up the work on the highway.

Co. I Correspondent Writes Interesting Letters Home

With Co. 1, 112th Inf. Reg't, Aug. 18, 1948

Dear Folks at Home:

Before we left Warren we promised that we would send back all the news for you so that you could watch our progress all along. However, none of us really anticipated the rigid training schedule under which we are now functioning, therefore we thought that we would have a little time of our own that we could get the news off to you right along. We offer our humble apologies and our Scotch promises that he will do the every endeavor to keep the letters coming right along.

Well, as you know, we departed from the old home town on the night of the 13th, most of us looking forward to our arrival here to get started on our training program. Our train was late, bringing us into Lickdale at approximately "1000" Saturday morning, where we were immediately rushed onto trucks and brought to our present barracks. There we were greeted by the two men who were sent ahead on the advance detail, Pfc's Dick Kays and Jim Hefferman, whose job was to prepare the barracks for our arrival. Of course, they had a sad tale to tell us, all about how they had been working 14 hours a day to get the place in shape for us. Confidentially, they both would make excellent housewives.

The first thing of interest to all of us on Friday was the mess, or meal to those who are not understanding of Army lingo. Of course, our lunch was not all it could have been for we had to eat the breakfast that was prepared for us at "600" in the morning, but hungry as we were we managed to get enough to tide us over till our own mess was made available. Believe me, it was anything but a mess, our cooks, staff Sgts. Harry Shirley, Vern Mellander, and Forrest Curtis, are really on the ball. With Cpls. Sam Maninger, and E. C. Johnson, and Chas. R. Farnsworth, Jim Hefferman, Dick Kays, Eugene Manfrey, and also Pfc's G. Bancroft, R. Bartsch, L. Churchill they all did a grand job in setting up the kitchen and getting us a wonderful meal. We had better add that Pfc's J. Gobinger, R. Grosch, D. Gustafson, P. Kitzlinger, J. McKillip, F. Nelson, and D. Rudolph were of great assistance on the Kitchen Detail, also.

That just about wraps up the 18th for us except that we all went to bed after cleaning up a few odds and ends in the barracks such as washing windows, etc. Sgt. Jim Schuman says that if the ranking NCO's don't quit their gossiping at night he will have to take drastic action; seems that Jim just can't get to sleep at night because he's afraid that he might miss something. Incidentally, Jim is doing a swell job as Armorer-Artificer (gun mechanic).

On Sunday morning no time was wasted as they made us fall out of the barracks at 5:30 for Reveille and roll call, and start a busy day preparing equipment, having meetings, and countless other details in preparation to starting out on our training schedule. The men attended to church services at one of the several chapels on the post, and aside from this we had little time to ourselves, all day. Pvt. John Henry Matha is already exhibiting signs of homesickness, they tell me that he has been rubbing all over the Battalion Area looking for a bicycle. Sunday evening a few passes were issued, but not many.

Monday morning marked the beginning of the Training schedule, with Reveille at 0545, followed by morning chow. At 0730 we fell out again and marched to an area where we were given class instructions in Range procedure, scoring, sighting, and other phases of rifle training in preparation for firing on the range where everyone will fire for qualification with his weapon. At noon on Monday we are scheduled to leave our area, to march to the bivouac area where we will spend the next two nights, firing weapons, and participating in night problems, etc.

Tuesday, August 17, 1948

Dear Folks:

When we left off in our last letter, we were about to leave the Company area on a road march to the bivouac or campsite. After hectic moments of preparation we finally got underway and everybody managed to survive the hike, in spite of many factors definitely not in our favor. Little things such as a blazing sun, a full-field pack, and hot pavements. Upon arrival at the bivouac area we pitched our pup-tents at once and arranged our equipment in them so as to make them as livable as possible. You know, I can't figure out why they call those things pup-tents, for they are hardly big enough for even a very small pup; you oughta see us guys trying to get in and out of one of them. Especially a guy like Patsy DeLeo, one of our men, who is a little broad across the back. Anyway, we got ourselves settled as quickly as we could, and then football and softball equipment was put into play, although there were very few who took advantage of the recreational period offered us, most of us preferring to rest up while we had an opportunity.

After we had a few minutes to rest up the work then began, for there are countless details to be taken care of in a bivouac area as large as ours. Most of us were scattered all around the area at various tasks, which were stopped only long enough for us to get our evening meal after which the work went on till it was time for us to go out on our first exercise. Going out before dark and remaining till after dark, taking part in a demonstration on the art of patroling and scouting, proved to be the problem for the night, and was viewed with some interest by a good many of our men, although we were all very much interested also in trying out our little tents.

Some of us think that maybe Jim Beach, one of our squad leaders, needs a pair of glasses, or something, though, and everyone is laughing at him for losing his flashlight in the field, and then borrowing it from Andy Arp in order to look for it. After using his own flashlight for several minutes trying to locate it, he very graciously returned it to Andy, thanking him for the use of it. Maybe it was merely the hot sun. After we returned to our area we all proceeded to turn into our sacks to get a much needed rest. Needless to say, the night turned out to be a cold one and there were many sore backs and aching bones the next morning.

This morning we turned out early, before daybreak as we really had a full schedule lined up for us. After a good breakfast, we all left to go on to the various ranges to qualify with our individual weapons. Shooting a rifle can be lots of fun, but as many of us learned today, it can also be hard work. A good many bruised thumbs, hands and shoulders gives living proof to this. All of us fired our weapons all morning, firing a total of approximately 145 shots, which took us all morning, having our lunch at about one-thirty in the afternoon.

The African ancestors of the American Negro represent tribes as diversified in human types as those found in the nations of Europe.

It's Harvest Time In Capital With Bumper Crop of Tourists

By ARTHUR EDSON

Washington—(AP)—Let Maine rave about its potatoes. Let Iowa brag about its corn. Let Kansas holler about its wheat.

Here in Washington we're busy harvesting a bumper crop, too.

I'm happy to report that, judging from the early sampling, we'll have a very fine tourist yield this year.

This is a strange town. Its biggest industry, of course, is government. Its next biggest is the tourist business.

The Washington board of trade estimates that 3,500,000 people come here each year to gawk at the sights. While gawking, they part with around $60,000,000.

The board of trade figures end here. But the Edison statistical service, whose unreliability has never been questioned, chips in with a few other morsels.

It estimates that most of these 3,500,000 visitors will have their pictures taken while standing in front of the U. S. capitol.

All too many of these, judging from the specimens I've observed at work, will show the capitol dimly, but give a wonderful view of Aunt Bee's store teeth, which almost fit.

It takes 45 buses, and hundreds of taxis taking part-time, to tote these tourists to the places they want to see.

Bob Atwood, who manages a bus line, says these are the goals of the average visitor, in the approximate order of their popularity:

Inside the city:

1. The White House.
2. The capitol.
3. The Smithsonian Institution.
4. The Bureau of Engraving.

Outside the city:

1. Mount Vernon.
2. Arlington.
3. Alexandria (all in Virginia).

The high up Washington monument also rates high up with the visitors, but it isn't on Atwood's list. That's because it takes so long to stand in line, waiting for an elevator, that most of his buses don't stop.

In addition to such things as the apothecary shop where Mrs. G. Washington used to order castor oil, by the quart, historical Alexandria has a new attraction. Tourists seem impressed when the speller spouts:

"And here is the home of John L. Lewis!"

Although a majority of the people want to see the White House most of all, they all can't make it. The place is open only two hours a day, five days a week. But 5,046 managed to squeeze in during the two hours of Aug. 10. The average is close to 4,000 a day.

Any tourists have strange ideas about our nation's capital?

"Yes," said Atwood, whose company has been hauling them for 36 years. "Many of them, for example, think the president either lives or works at the capitol."

Actually he's rarely there except to address joint sessions of congress, although President Truman goes up to the capitol hill occasionally to lunch with old senate cronies.

Atwood says the misconception he likes to remember came several years ago when an old railroad chuffed into town.

He took one look at the large, marbledomed building and cried: "Great scott, what a marvelous roundhouse!"

He seemed plumb put out when the bus driver told him that was no roundhouse—only the U. S. capitol.

To make a Mocha Frosting for a fluffy white cake, cream 2 table-spoons of butter or margarine, add a cup of confectioner's 4X sugar and a few table-spoons of strong, clear coffee; beat until very smooth and creamy and spread on cake at once.

Camp Period Of Lutheran Boys Is Ended

The Lutheran Boys' Camp packed their kits and left Camp Bushall today Saturday afternoon for the end of the eight-day camping period. It was an excellent camping time for the sixty boys who attended. No accidents or sickness marred the camp. Thirty-eight boys gained weight on the good food served in spite of the very active program.

In the final games of the scheduled contests, the Beavers took the title in volley ball and basketball. They also topped the crown in the swimming meet. The Foxes won the cross country race. The first five to finish that race were Jack Cropp, Elwyn Ristau, Allen Berglund, Jack Donaldson and Buster Eckdahl. The best records for daily inspection were made by the Wolves and Elks. Each unit received a prize at the Friday campfire for having won the various contests.

The staff was hard pressed Friday to defeat the campers at mumbleball. The score was 18 to 17.

The campers expressed their appreciation of the fine work done by the staff by giving forth a number of cheers at the final campfire.

Co. I Correspondent Writes Interesting Letters Home

With Co. 1, 112th Inf. Reg't.
Aug. 18, 1948

Dear Folks at Home:

Before we left Warren we promised that we would send back all the news for you, so that you could watch our progress all along. However, none of us really anticipated the rigid training schedule under which we are now functioning, therefore we thought that we would have a little time of our own that we could get the news off to you right along. We offer our humble apologies and our Scribe promises that he will make every endeavor to keep the letters coming right along.

Well, as you know, we departed from the old home town on the night of the 18th, most of us looking forward to our arrival here to get started on our training program. Our train was late, bringing us into Lickdale at approximately "1000" Saturday morning, where we were immediately rushed onto trucks and brought to our present barracks. There we were greeted by the two men who were sent ahead on the advance detail, Pfc's, Dick Kays and Jim Hefferman, whose job was to prepare the barracks for our arrival. Of course, they had a sad tale to tell, working 14 hours a day to get the place in shape for us. Confidentially, they both would make excellent housewives.

The first thing of interest to all of us on Friday was the mess, or meal to those who are not understanding of Army lingo. Of course, our lunch was not all it could have been for we had to eat the breakfast that was prepared for us at "600" in the morning, but hungry as we were we managed to get enough to tide us over till our own mess was made available. Believe me, it was anything but a mess, our cooks, staff Sgts. Harry Shirley, Vern Mellander, and Forrest Curtis, are really on the ball. With Cpl's Sam Manfrey, and E. C. Johnson, along with Privates 1st Class A. Chase, R. Farnsworth, Jim Hefferman, Dick Kays, Eugene Manfrey, and also Pvt's. G. Baneroff, R. Bartsch, L. Churchill they all did a grand job in setting up the kitchen and getting us a wonderful meal. We had better add that Pvt's J. Gobliger, R. Grosch, D. Gustafson, P. Kite-linger, J. McKillip, F. Nelson, and D. Rudolph were of great assistance on the kitchen detail also.

That just about winds up the 18th for us except that we all went to bed after cleaning up a few odds and ends in the barracks such as washing windows, etc. Sgt. Jim Schuman says that if their ranking NCO's don't quit their gossiping at night he will have to take drastic action; seems that Jim just can't get to sleep at night because he's afraid that he might miss something. Incidentally, Jim is doing a swell job as Armorer-Artificer (gun mechanic).

On Sunday morning no time was wasted as they made us fall out of the barracks at 5:30 for Reveille and roll call, and start a busy day preparing equipment, having meetings, and countless other details in preparation to starting out on our training schedule. The men attended church services at one of the several chapels on the post, and aside from this we had little time to ourselves all day. Pvt. John Henry Matha is already exhibiting signs of homesickness, they tell me that he has been running all over the Battalion Area looking for a bicycle. Sunday evening a few passes were issued, but not many.

Monday morning marked the beginning of the Training schedule, with Reveille at 0545, followed by morning chow. At 0730 we fell out again and marched to an area where we were given class instructions in Range procedure, scoring, sighting, and other phases of rifle training in preparation for firing on the range where everyone will find a qualification with his weapon. At noon on Monday we are scheduled to leave our area to march to the bivouac area where we will spend the next two nights, firing weapons, and participating in night problems, etc.

Tuesday, August 17, 1948

Dear Folks:

When we left off in our last letter, we were about to leave the Company area on a road march to the bivouac, or camping trip. After hectic moments of preparation we finally got underway and everybody managed to survive the hike, in spite of many factors definitely not in our favor. Little things such as a blazing sun, a full-field pack, and hot pavements. Upon arrival at the bivouac area we pitched our pup-tents at once and arranged our equipment in them so as to make them as livable as possible. You know, I can't figure out why they call those things pup-tents, for they are hardly big enough for even a very small pup; you oughta see us guys trying to get in and out of one of them.
